

SHORT VERSION

María de los Ángeles Lasa (1986) holds a Bachelor's Degree in International Relations from the Catholic University of Córdoba (AR), a Master of Public Policy from the University of Oxford (GB), and a PhD in Political Science from the University of Camerino (IT). She has worked in the Argentine public sector, international organizations, and civil society organizations. She has served as Visiting Researcher at the University of Texas at Austin (US) and the University of Los Andes (CO), as well as Visiting Lecturer at the Di Tella University (AR). She is Lecturer at UCOM (PY) and at the University of San Andrés (AR), Associate Researcher at the National University of La Plata (AR), and Applied Data Science Manager at the Global Fund for Women's Gender Justice Data Hub. In 2024, she published her first book, País de vinalón: mi viaje a Corea del Norte (CADAL Foundation), reissued in 2025 by EDUVIM. She was TEDxSpeaker at the Catholic University of Córdoba and at the National Library of Argentina. She has been awarded scholarships from Fundación Carolina, the Government of Italy, the Fulbright Commission, Chevening, Erasmus+, and the Maison de l'Argentine in Paris.

EXTENDED VERSION

María de los Ángeles Lasa (1986) earned her Bachelor's Degree in International Relations from the Catholic University of Córdoba (UCC-Jesuits). She later completed a Master of Public Policy at the University of Oxford and a PhD in Political Science at the University of Camerino.

Beginning her career as an analyst in international cooperation and later advancing into leadership roles, she has worked with international organizations and across all three levels of the Argentine government. In the private sector and for civil society organizations, she has led research and managed projects on disinformation and misinformation, polarization, legal protection for migrants, the integration of displaced persons, women's participation in politics, anti-vaccine movements, gender justice movements, and sports for development. She is currently Applied Data Science Manager at the Global Fund for Women's Gender Justice Data Hub.

She has been Visiting Researcher at the University of Los Andes in Colombia and at the University of Texas at Austin, as well as a Visiting Professor at the Di Tella University in Argentina. She was also part of the Youth Group and the Working Group on Korea at the Argentine Council for International Relations (CARI). She is currently Lecturer in Public Policy at UCOM (Paraguay), Assistant Lecturer at the University of San Andrés, Academic Advisor on North Korean Affairs at the Center for the Opening and Development of Latin America (CADAL), and Associate Researcher at the Center for Korean Studies at the National University of La Plata.

She is the author of award-winning essays in prestigious national and international competitions, including the World Bank International Essay Competition (Stockholm, 2010), the Ideas4Action International Essay Contest by the World Bank Institute (Brussels, 2010), the UNESCO and Goi Peace Foundation International Essay Contest for Young Writers (Tokyo, 2010), the St. Gallen Wings of Excellence Award (St. Gallen, 2011), the National Essay Competition on the Korean Peninsula organized by the Embassy of the Republic of Korea in Argentina (Buenos Aires, 2022), and the XXXVI Luis José de Tejeda Literature Prize (Córdoba, 2023).

In 2024, she published her first book, País de vinalón: mi viaje a Corea del Norte (CADAL Foundation), which was reissued in 2025 by EDUVIM.

She has been recognized as a Young Leader by the German Marshall Fund of the United States (2013), the St. Gallen Symposium (2013), the Córdoba Chamber of Commerce (2015), and JCI Argentina (2023). In 2016, she was TEDxSpeaker at the Catholic University of Córdoba and the National Library of Buenos Aires.

She has been awarded scholarships from Fundación Carolina, the Ministry of Education, University and Research of the Government of Italy, the Fulbright Commission, Chevening, Erasmus+, and the Maison de L'Argentine in Paris.